CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS
WANTS TO WALK LENGTH
SECOND DISTRICT

J. Cohen, candidate for the U.S. Congress, walked through Bethel on the first leg of his trek through the Second District of Maine.

Began at the New Hampshire state line west of Gilead, walking and listening to citizens on the way. Mr. Cohen walked along Route 2, through Bethel and all the way into Bethel, seeking the opinions of people in Bethel, in the stores on the way. Bethel residents met him on the street. He spent the night at the home of a Bethel resident.

Cohen remarked: "I am very glad to begin this walk here in Bethel. I have met a number of people during my previous visits and met many more today. I am interested in learning what the people of Bethel and the entire Second District of Maine want of me. I am confident that we can truly represent the wishes of people through this endeavor."

A representative of the Internal Revenue Service will be at the Post Office Building, Rumford, from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday, July 21, to assist in any type of Internal Revenue problem.

Gladys Kilgore, Corres. —

The Reverend Herbert Cummings of Lancaster, N.H., finished his week of vacation Bible School Friday held at the Magalloway Town Hall and Wilson's Mills Church. He had 15 pupils and they seemed to enjoy their studies very much.

Miss Geraldine Kenney and Miss Sherry Gray helped with the teaching.

Leon and Russell Bennett of Rum-ford were at the Aziscoos House and their cabin Saturday.

Mrs. Hazel Harvey returned Monday from her treatment at the Hanover Hospital and is thought to be some better but will go back there soon for more treatment.

The McGinley and Enderson families of Manchester and Whitefield spent the week end with Harold and Isa McGinley and her brother, Roger Dickey, and wife, were also there.

George Asadorian and friends of Belmont, Mass., went home Sunday.
He had very good luck fishing.

Gerhard Behrend returned to his home in Watertown, Mass., on Thursday evening. He expects to bring his family back with him in two weeks as the mosquitoes and black flies are too bad for them now.

Mrs. Bertha West and Mrs. Addie Lancaster spent the day Friday with Mrs. Marjorie Littlehale.

An Artex party was held at the home of Mrs. Joy Eastman Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stuart of Colebrook called on friends in this vicinity Friday evening.

We had three good days recently but today, Monday, we are back to rain and clouds.

My red roses which came from Sunday River originally are beautiful and I saw one blush one open this morning. The parent stock was older than I. My mulberries are blossomed and some very white musk roses which are also very old and the other pink and white roses.
The blush rose came from Concord in 1893.

1972 MAINE DEER SEASON
IS SET

Maine Fish and Game Commissioner Maynard F. Marsh has set the deer hunting season for 1972, including some changes designed to reduce hunting pressure in some areas where deer numbers are lower than usual.

The decision was reached after a planning meeting attended by members of the Commissioner's Advisory Council, the Legislature's Fisheries and Wildlife Committee, game biologists, warden supervisors, and other department personnel. Field personnel reported on deer herd conditions and populations regionally and statewide.

Shortening the season in the lower portion of the former northern hunting zone has the effect of changing the zone line. For 1972, the line will be as follows: The Dole Pond road from the Canadian border in Township 5, Range 20 (about 50 miles northwest of Greenville) to Pittston Farm, the road to Rockwood, across Moosehead Lake to Kinco, the east shore of the lake to Moose River, the river to Kokajoo, down the road to the Roach Pond road south of First Ranch Pond, that road to where it meets the Appalachian Trail at Second West Branch Road, the Trail to Penobscot Lake, the north shore of Penobscot and Ambajeet lakes to the Baxter Park road, that road to Millinocket, Route 157 to the Aroostook County line, and the county line east to the Canadian border.

Opening day north of the line will be Oct. 23; south of it, Nov. 6. Both zones close Nov. 25.

The northern zone will have the same season dates originally set last year by the Legislature; the southern zone opens one hunting day later than previously scheduled.

Other questions arose: "Is it bad to be different?" "Can differences in groups be used to advantage?" or, "Does complete harmony in groups, (between countries, in families), indicate progress or even a state of peace?"

The degree of optimism for continued maintenance and achievement of goals varied with individuals; however, everyone agreed that the processes to group action learned in the workshop were exciting and valuable tools to use in already established groups and organizations.

Anyone interested in becoming involved in the stated four goals, or who may wish to learn more about Community Action programs are urged to contact members of the Steering Committee for information: Burnie Merrill, Tom Caton, Bob Saunders and Phil Dyck.

FOREST PRODUCTS COUNCIL
SEEKING CANDIDATES FOR FOREST PRINCESS

Royalty may be an unenviable status in much of the world today, but Maine's forest industries are actively seeking candidates for a top ceremonial post they have created, and are willing to guarantee that the throne and crown that goes with it will be secure for at least a year. They're looking for a Forest Princess to be crowned at the annual Forestry Field Day at Patten Aug. 12 at the site of the Lumberman's Museum.

Elsie D. Benney, a Waterville pulped paper dealer who heads the Field Day program sponsored by the Maine Forest Products Council and the Maine Forestry Department, says that any Maine girl between the ages of 18 and 25 may apply for the Forest Princess position, provided she is single, has the ability to meet people well, and has at least a fundamental understanding of the importance of Maine's forest industries.

Preliminary contests for Princess candidates will be held in five areas during the two weeks preceding the Field Day. Final selection of the Forest Princess will be made at the Patten Field Day by judges not connected with the forest industries. The winner will be named from among the five area candidates, and will participate at ceremonial events held by the Forest Products Council during the year, including the annual meeting of the Council in December and the Agricultural Trades Show in January.

Details of the Forest Princess contests may be obtained by communicating with the Maine Forest Products Council office at Bangor.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ward were camping at Denmark last week.

GOALS RE-STATEMENT AT SECOND SESSION ON JULY 13 OF
"INDIVIDUAL AND COMMUNITY"

The second session of "The Individual and His Community" was held Thursday, July 13, at Telstar Regional High School with the original participants joined by additional resource individuals.

Activities centered around the four major interests which evolved from the first sessions: 1) Youth Activities; 2) Community Betterment and Preservation of Natural Resources; 3) and 4) Human Resources' File and Crises Support and Referral — the latter two having combined.

The team of Ronald and Peggy Lippitt and Eva Schindler-Rainwater brought with them John Glass, Grover Loughmiller and Raymond Ratte, Interns from the Applied Behavior Program at N. T. L.

During the first part of the evening, each group first restated its goals to all participants—clarifying specific targets and receiving feedback from Staff and other group members. The groups then separated to work on specific projects, with an Intern to act as Observer and Coordinator, helping the groups remain "on target."

A follow-up evaluation determined continuing tasks and dates to meet again.

Some of the interesting side lights revealed that many people, while aware of the Community needs and concerned about necessary action to meet these needs, may have difficulty in accepting the different levels of individual involvement: i.e. One person may give an hour a week (or month), another may give ten; or, one person may simply recognize an unmet need and only point it out to someone else who can take constructive action.

Other questions arose: "Is it bad to be different?" "Can differences in groups be used to advantage?" or, "Does complete harmony in groups, (between countries, in families), indicate progress or even a state of peace?"

The degree of optimism for continued maintenance and achievement of goals varied with individuals; however, everyone agreed that the processes to group action learned in the workshop were exciting and valuable tools to use in already established groups and organizations.

Anyone interested in becoming involved in the stated four goals, or who may wish to learn more about Community Action programs are urged to contact members of the Steering Committee for information: Burnie Merrill, Tom Caton, Bob Saunders and Phil Dyck.

Forecast Period: July 23 - July 29, 1972

ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19

According to your chart, this cosmic cycle finds you much too busy to worry about a chronic emotional problem. Incidentally, heading toward a "get rich scheme" is likely.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20

It seems as though hidden animosity will burst into an open flame! The point? Try to avoid an associate who is attempting to provoke you.

GEMINI
May 21 - June 20

Over indulgence is in the general scheme of things for most members of your sign. One other thing - control the tendency to have too many irons in the fire.

MOONCHILD
June 21 - July 22

Being thin-skinned and over-reactive to criticism seems to cross-cut your chart; especially, with the opposite sex.

LEO
July 23 - Aug. 22

A tough schedule seems to be in the offering. Nonetheless, a subtle chain of events will lead you into greater rewards and less responsibility.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22

This happens to be one of those cosmic cycles when most members of your sign can do no wrong. So, look forward to unexpected gains with the opposite sex and greater affluency.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 22

For those under your sign, so inclined, the temptation to become involved in a triangle is likely. Other Libarians must differentiate between opportunity and temptation.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23 - Nov. 21

At least once, during the present cosmic cycle, you will leap to a faulty conclusion. Furthermore, be extremely cautious about giving an associate advice.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21

Believe it or not, overwork shows in your chart. Avoid trying to make up for lost time. Most members of your sign are error-prone during the present cosmic cycle.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 19

Whatever you do - don't rely on an associate. According to prevailing stellar patterns, there's very little help coming your way through teamwork or "lucky breaks."

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 - Feb. 18

Boredom with daily routine and over-concern about a member of the opposite sex seems to be in the scheme of things. This happens to be one of those cycles when pleasure will supersede business.

PISCES
Feb. 19 - Mar. 20

Chances are, or the probability is high, that you will be in an environment or a group that is different, unique or bizarre.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. — The state of Maine is best known in its summer dress. Now at mid-July our season has begun to assert itself. Have you noticed how the brown-eyed Susans have appeared in the neglected meadows and along the roadside? Look closely at their eyes and you will note that they are a purplish-brown while the petals have a rich golden color.

The farmers are busy in their hay fields but the weather has been most discouraging; a load ready to go in and the rain comes.

As I stood among the hay bales one day and helped a bit, I looked across the valley and was reminded of the change in the manner of haying today. Marion Olson's "Haying Time" in rhyme describes it well. "As the mower and team cut a path round the field, The green fragrant hay to the sickle did yield. Windrows were made by the wire-tined rakes."

And the bare stubble field was left in its wake. . . . The farmers stood anxiously scanning the skies: In the warm summer sun the shocks cured and dried. . . . By pulley and ropes the fork ran to a track, Then down from the roof to the burdened hay rack. The teeth of the fork bit into the hay. And a huge golden shock was soon on its way Up to the rafters as far as allowed, By lever released fell into the mow."

I was also reminded of the disappearing clearings where farms have gone back to the forests.

Then from high up viewing the valley it was a place to linger, a place of enjoyment itself. The bee droned in the clover field, the stretch of mountains, and the ordinary pond below. I had passed this spot dozens of times and hardly given it a second thought. But today with a change in the angle of light, or the formation of clouds, this same view became more than ordinary. It was transformed from "just a pond" to a place of beauty and I realized what the light from above can do to our world below.

I listened and an unknown something sang sweetly above the drone and buzz of wings. The warm sweet fragrance was everywhere.

The click of the machine, and the bales kept dropping as the driver gazed out upon the field, watched his course, and smelled the sweet fragrance.

Butterflies traced erratic courses above the moving grass. Flocks of black birds, swirled and veered, and dropped to a landing among the holes.

Evening came; the glow was dying as the sun disappeared behind the hills rimming the valley.

On the lawn the breeze was refreshing. The day had gone by, the day of flowers and sunshine. Where earlier the clouds had drifted was now a starlit world. Here and there was heard the song of the white throat, the thrush, and the twitter of other birds as they made ready for the night. My "chipper" came again and again for his "hand out" then he too went home for the night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt and Danny, Windsor, were weekend visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt's. Other callers this week were Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Chase, Rena Bacon, West Paris; Ella Whitney, Oxford; Lena Pearson, Amesbury, Mass.; Rena Bacon, West Paris.

Verna Libby, Westbrook, visited her sister, Doris Hayes, a few days.

Louise DiArenzo and several girls are vacationing here at the DiArenzo cottage. They are from Pennsylvania.

Attending the supper at Hunt's Corner Thursday were: Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bowen, Doris Hayes, Ella Morris, Fay Holt, Verna Libby, Anna Jarvenpa, Katie Tamminen, Ruth Hastings, Colista Morgan. A beautiful rainbow arched overhead late one afternoon this week. It was complete and brilliant with all colors of the spectrum sharp and clear and well defined.

Vernon and Milton Inman and families are at Cathedral of the Pines for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Whitman spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Morgan and on Thursday left for their home in Palestine, Tex. Other callers were Jeri and Danny Holt, Windsor; Ella Whitney, Oxford; Lena Pearson, Amesbury, Mass.; Rena Bacon, West Paris.

Karen Hakala visited her aunt, Mrs. Richard Ham and family at Greenville several days.

Visitors at Edna Templer's were Mrs. Elsie Hubbard, Mary Hill, and two other friends from Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Millett and family attended a family reunion on Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Lawrence's.

Jean Millett, Maureen and Phen, spent several days at Poland camp at Concord Pond week. Sherry and Brenda visit their grandmother at West Park.

Dorothy Curtis spent the week West Peru with Mrs. Audrey

— Mrs. Violet Swain, Corres. — Congregational Church. Neighbors, the Vacation Bible School class 14 with a program and the C. E. B. There was a day of arts and crafts. The event was approximately 45 per day session. The pastor like to thank those who helped the week and those who came to dinner. A sum of $78 was in donations. This will be the expenses of the materials that was left will be set aside next year. July 30 will be Old Home Day. A supper at 5 p.m. planned with a service for former ministers have been invited.

The Andover Friday Club will have their annual flower show at 2 p.m. on July 22. Funeral services were held for Sadie Mishall Bell, her husband, Albert, she left

Congregational Church News

Vacation Bible School closed on July 14 with a program and dinner at the C. E. B. There was a display of arts and crafts. The enrollment was approximately 45 for the day session. The pastor would like to thank those who helped during the week and those who served the dinner. A sum of $78 was taken in donations. This will defray the expenses of the materials and what was left will be set aside for next year. July 30 will be Old Home Sunday. A supper at 5 p. m. is planned with a service following.

Former ministers have been invited to attend.

The Andover Friday Club will hold their annual flower show at the C.

E. B. on July 22.

Funeral services were held on July

14 for Sadie Myshall Bell. Besides her husband, Albert, she left three daughters, Winona Conrad, Rena Parker and Martha Bell; two sons, William and Ephram, and seven grandchildren.

Vivian Barlow was in West Paris on Friday to pick up Lavina Danforth from the Chapel Valley board- ing home. She drove her back to East Andover where she called on several friends. She formerly lived in East Andover across from Swains in the large house now owned by John Richardson. Mrs. Danforth was 91 in February and has to use a walker, but at each home she called at she got out of the car and went inside. At the end of the day she said that that was the nicest day she had for many years.

Lance Hilton, Kittery, has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Palmer and family. His mother, Mrs. Linden Hilton, arrived last week end to visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Fox had their second garage sale on Saturday. They are in the process of cleaning up the many rooms that they have not used for many years.

Mrs. Hattie Coombs celebrated her 90th birthday on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith.

Mrs. Russell Hilton, Kittery, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Harold Bodwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hall and family, Belligham, Mass., are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester White and other relatives.

Stephen Simmons graduated from Manchester (Conn.) Community College last week and he and Mrs. Simmons are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Simmons Jr. Also visiting at the Simmons home were Arthur Ventura, Manchester, Conn., Miss Norine Jenks, Rocky Hill, Conn., and William (Bill) Simmons, Manchester, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Meissner have returned from a visit with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Greig, Meriden, Conn.

Mrs. Greig gave birth to twin daughters last week. One died shortly after birth. The Greigs have two sons. Mrs. Greig was the former Marcia Meissner.

Lorena Simmons was a patient at the Central Maine General Hospital in Lewiston last week. William Simmons, Sr., is a patient at the Community Hospital.

Surprise Shower Held — Donna Percival, Beverly Swan, Julie Beville, and Paula Putnam were hostesses at a baby shower for Linda Percival on July 13 at the home of Donna Percival. Included in the refreshments was a special ABC Block Cake made by Norma Farrington. The guest of honor received many lovely and useful gifts. A social evening was enjoyed. Attending were Minnie Akers, Rena Falkenham, Blandine Falkenham, Gertrude Akers, Elsie Dresser, Beatrice Dresser, Ruth Hilton, Eva Bodwell, Gertrude Percival, Elizabeth Bodwell, Alma Hewry, Mrs. Gloria Wilson, also Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wilson, were in Woods- ville, N. H., Saturday, to attend the funeral of Alden Wilson's sister, Mrs. V. J. (Myrtle) Brown. She lived in Gilead several years ago.

Mrs. Ellis Hanson and daughter, Mrs. Thomas Gallagher and three children of Cape Elizabeth and Mrs. Pauline Lawrence and two children of Portland were guests of Mrs. J. E. A. Gilbert Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. A. Gilbert and granddaughter, Kim Collet were in Whitefield, N. H., Sunday to call on Mr. Gilbert's uncle, Frank Pilotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Wilson, Ter- ey, Marion Bodwell, Pamela Percival, Millie Hodson, Jean Chase, Lillian Percival, Frances Kerchner, Glenda Falkenham, Karen Swan, Kaye Swan, Penny Percival and Kris Percival. Sending gifts: Althea Hutchins, Joyce Morgan, Shirley Dunn, Peggy Wilde, Mildred Pater- son and Elizabeth Swan.

Mrs. Edward George Rosenberg

Leslie Susan Everhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Everhart of 311 E. Park Ave., State College, Pa., and Edward George Rosenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rosenberg of Bryant Pond, were married in a candlelight ceremony, Saturday evening, June 24.

Rev. William F. McClain performed the ceremony at State College Presbyterian Church and Max Krumrine of State College was organist. The bride designed and crafted the gold wedding bands.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory tissue silk gown de sole gown with Alencon lace and seed pearls embroidered on empire bodice, long sleeves and back of the gown as it formed a chapel train. Her Juliet cap of lace and pearl clusters held her chapel length veil. She wore a gold and diamond pin, a family heirloom of Mrs. D. Josephson, a close friend of the family. The bride carried a bouquet of white and pink roses, violets and baby's breath.

Margaret Miller of Ridgeway, Pa., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a full-length empire gown of imported printed voile in shades of blue, violet and white over blue taffeta accented with violet velvet sash and headpiece of violet velvet ribbon and silk violet flowers.

The bridesmaids were Jennifer Lacey of Reading, Pa., Margaret Ross of State College, sorority sisters of the bride, and Donna Rosenberg of Bryant Pond, sister of the bridegroom. They wore matching gowns of violet blue and white over blue taffeta accented with violet velvet sash and headpiece of violet velvet ribbon and silk blue flowers.

Keith Rivers, of Searsport, Maine, was best man. Ushers were Daniel Fredheit, of State College, Peter Rosenberg Jr. of Bangor, Maine,

STATE TRANSPORTATION DEPT. IS SEEKING ENVIRONMENTAL SPECIALIST

The Maine Department of Transportation is seeking an environmental specialist to place on its staff, according to Roger Mallar, MDOT's deputy commissioner of planning and administration. Currently being advertised by the State Department of Personnel, applications will be held open only until July 21.

The environmentalist's chief responsibility will be to make certain that the Department's programs will be carried out in such a way as to protect and enhance Maine's environment. He will review elements of the MDOT's entire program for their effect on the natural environment, study individual projects for possible changes and participate in the administrative activities of the Scenic Highway Board, among other duties.

The new employee must have considerable experience in biological sciences involving concern with emphasis on water-related resources. A background in at least one other area such as air or noise pollution, herbicide programs, or game and forest management—will also be necessary.

VETERANS MAY BE UNAWARE OF FINANCIAL AID AVAILABLE THROUGH STATE BUREAU

The State Bureau of Veterans Services has a financial aid program called World War Assistance of which many veterans may be unaware. This program is designed to help dependents of war-time veterans when through sickness, disability or death there is a loss of income.

Financial aid is temporary in nature to help fill the gap while the veteran is incapacitated. In order to qualify for this aid, veterans must be discharged under other than dishonorable and be a resident of Maine.

Assistance in benefits range from $10-$350 a month, and repayments are not necessary. This program is one of the many benefits provided by the Bureau of Veterans Services.

For further information contact your local Veterans Services office located at the Armory, Rumford, every Thursday from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

SYMPTOMS OF DUTCH ELM DISEASE SLOW TO SHOW THIS SEASON

This spring with prolonged cool and wet weather during the growing season, our trees produced green and lush foliage. As you will remember the month of June and early July were extremely wet. Many people have commented on how healthy our elms and other shade trees appear at this time.

"Don't let this fool you", says John Chadwick, State Shade Tree Specialist. This is the kind of year when all kinds of insects and disease problems could develop. The usual yellow flagging associated with newly diseased infected elms have been slow in showing. But, Mr. Chadwick reports, "It will take only a short period of warm, dry weather which will hasten the showing of the disease and associated symptoms."

All municipal officials and property owners are cautioned not to become complacent by the up-to-now lack of Dutch elm disease symptoms. He goes on to suggest that each community should be carefully scouted and elms showing yellowing or "flags" should be marked for immediate removal and proper disposal to prevent further spread of the disease to nearby healthy elms.

Recently publicized remedies for control of the disease are still in the experimental stage which leaves only sanitation as the basic and most effective control measure. State financial assistance is still available to municipalities. For more information write the Maine Forestry Department, State House, Augusta, Maine.

Black Girl Won Praise For School Work In Rumford's 1885 Town Report

By Everett K. Martin
In these days of such problems as school desegregation, bussing, racism, civil rights and equal opportunity, it is interesting to note that in 1885 in the town of Rumford a black girl, who had come from the South with her family, was singled out by a school agent as a fine example of what other scholars could accomplish if they would show the same industry and application.

Mrs. Teresa Picard, historian of the Greater Rumford Historical Society, ran across some material in old town reports which she passed on to the writer as of interest in these times as compared to those days.

In the 1885 Town Report the report of the year in School District No. 9 (East Rumford) was written by Albert Virgin, agent. In those days of rural schools, each was in a district supervised by an agent.

Mr. Virgin reported:

"Miss Blanche A. Abbott met with great success in the summer term. She belongs to a family of teachers and they all are faithful in every detail of school work. Mr. R. E. McAllister of Paris taught the winter term. The school was only fair in order and progress term."

The scholars are mostly too young to advance without great effort on the part of teachers. Among the older ones the progress was better. There was a colored girl in attendance who came from the South last summer, knowing her letters. She can read readily in the reader, and write a letter. Our more fortunate stars had captivated crowd hours earlier, too many for any one. The bill had included Sandra Dunham, "Scooter" Newton, Portland City Hall, Corum was empty, quite a few of the star-filled echo. Six major stars had captivated this honest girl there were no poor teachers known to congratulate this girl's brilliant success and as who may follow me to the right hand of felicity and help her on in her quest for knowledge."

A little research reveals back in 1885 there families of colored people moving northward and a girl, Mary Mathews, was of such a family. She apparently not strong enough to go further, remained in Rumford and attended school here. Her death occurred in 1887 when she was 10 years old.

As a pupil in school she had been about six years older than the other children in her class which apparently helped her to learn her letters. She read in such a comparative short time.

On Road, Bikeway or Trail, Bike Safety Is Up to You

Bicycle safety is everybody's business, and accidents can happen anywhere, whether you are cycling around the block, on a bike path or trail, or across the country.

There are two principal elements to safe cycling, a safe bike to begin with, and safe driving procedures on the part of the cyclist.

If your bike has the BMA's seal affixed to the seat mast just under the saddle, you know that it has been tested by an independent testing laboratory to meet the safety and manufacturing standards of the Bicycle Manufacturers of America. That's a good place to start.

But any bike regardless of its make or age, should be inspected frequently to make sure it is in sound working order. Check to make sure

Portrait of Two Pros
... Hank Snow and Betty Cody

Tom Connors made his debut, belting out Dick Curless's famed "Tombstone Every Mile." Whether one liked it or not, because we are so familiar with the original version, it was refreshing to hear another artist sing this difficult song.

Why the Stompin'? Because his habit of stomping his left foot on the floor had ruined many carpets where he had performed, he started using a quarter inch thick plywood "stompin' board." Connors carried the approximately square yard long board on stage in Portland, placed his left foot on it and backed by his two Roving Cowboys, stomped through not only his own compositions but some comic interpretations.

As for his personality everyone who talked with him left loving him. There is no facade to this man. Appearing second on the bill, Stompin' Tom waited until the end of the show, almost midnight, to talk with fans and sign autographs.

4-H'ers Work to Conserve America's Natural Resource

SPECIAL - Young people today are firmly committed to their survival and that of this planet. They are involved with the problems and seek solutions to air and water pollution, garbage disposal, survival of threatened animal and bird life. In fact they want to conserve all of America's natural resources.

Among the active and concerned young people are more than 320,000 enrolled in the 4-H conservation of natural resources program.

The effectiveness of their work is reflected in a case study of one young man who worked four years in 4-H conservation, sponsored nationally by John Deere and supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

John J. Silvia Jr., 18, of Middletown, R.I., concentrated his efforts on preserving and enhancing the life and natural habitat of animals, birds, insects and vegetation.

And he skillfully persuaded others around him by word and deed to become involved. In order to carry his conservation message more forcefully to other 4-H members and to various civic groups, the youth took up the 4-H public speaking project. He used his 4-H photography project to tell the story of the need for all people to be concerned and do something about conservation.

As a result of his interest and his effective teaching of younger 4-H members, his 4-H club earned special recognition in 1971.

Now a University of Massachusetts freshman planning a career in wildlife management and conservation, Silvia also earned one of six educational scholarships of $700 each provided by John Deere in 1971.

Again in 1972, John Deere is making available to members a maximum of five medals of honor per year and an all-expense-paid trip to the 51st National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 23-26.

At the National 4-H Congress, representatives of the donor will present six educational scholarships of $700 each to national winners.

Clubs carrying on outstanding conservation programs receive certificates of merit. And a $50 cash award is provided for one club in each state reporting the most outstanding 4-H conservation program. This award is used for further work in the 4-H conservation resources program.

For information on the 4-H conservation project, contact the county 4-H agent or the state 4-H

Snow's Falls

above the falls, eroded a narrow gorge down through to the valley, in some places so narrow one could step across and so deep one can scarcely see the bottom.

The volume of water must have been much greater at that time, as there were many tributaries carrying water to the Little Androscoggin, which have since dried up, caused by the clearing of land along the settlement at Snow's Falls and river.

The other story of Snow's Falls concerns the Indian Moll Locket who used to travel in the spring and fall through the Androscoggin Valley from Gray to Magalloway, always carrying her herb medicine and stopping with friendly people along the way. She was credited with saving the life of Hannibal Hamlin when he was a small child and it is known that his family thought very highly of her.

This story was, that she stopped for a lodging on a cold stormy night at the small whoever it was that she asked would not let her in; this angered her so that she called a curse on the place, saying nothing would ever prosper there.

Be that true or not, it is a fact that many enterprises have been started there only to end in failure.

A chair factory burned as did a brown paper. Later a shoe factory was operated there for a short time, but nothing really prospered although the large building and bridge across the falls were standing well into the century. A road from the bridge led to the upper end of High St. in South Paris and farmers used to travel both ways from West Paris to South Paris.

The Grand Trunk Railroad now known as the Canadian Pacific skirts the edge of the falls so near one can look down into the great gorge and rocky cavern.

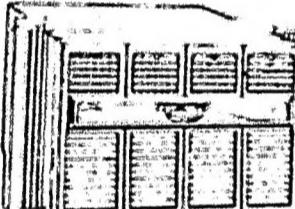

Since Rt. 26 has been improved, a beautiful camp site has been made at the side of the Falls, and many take advantage of the wonderful view to picnic at the site, some little knowing all the history centered there.

Chrysler Sports film library offers exclusive highlights of top events

Detroit—Program chairmen, searching for an exciting bound-to-appeal 30 minutes of entertainment, can find it in the new Chrysler Sports Film Library.

The library, reflecting Chrysler sponsorship of television coverage of the nation's major sports events, provides exclusive access to edited sound, color films of the same sports spectacles.

New 16mm films now available in the Chrysler Sports Film Library include:

SUPER BOWL VI—Dallas Cowboys finally win the big one and bury ghosts of past Super Bowl defeats with a convincing win over the surprising Miami Dolphins.

FINAL STEPS TO SUPER BOWL—Highlights from the NFC and AFC 1971-72 championship games pitted San Francisco against Dallas, and Miami against Baltimore in final struggle for Super Bowl spot.

NFL '71-'72—With superb defenses reducing the potential for quick scores via the aerial "bomb", the 1971-72 pro football season became the year of the running back with more thousand-yard club members than ever before. Filmed review of season explores offensive adjustments that countered teams who made it to the top in the past on iron-ribbed defense alone.

SUPER BOWL V—The classic match-up between the solid, conservative eleven and the explosive but erratic team, pits Baltimore and Dallas in the climax to the 1970-71 season.

THAT ONE VINTAGE YEAR—The fabulous 1970-71 NFL season that saw division championships decided on the last day of the regular season is reviewed with excerpts from all six division championship games.

DUEL IN THE DUST—1970-

'71 AFC championship struggle between Baltimore and Oakland matches two "old pro" quarterbacks, Johnny Unitas of the Colts, and George Blanda of the '49ers.

BOB HOPE DESERT CLASSIC—Switching from gridiron wars to the lush greens of professional golf, the seventh current Sports Library offering capsules all the action on the links and provides a rare look at visiting celebrities from sports and show business touring the course with the game's top pros.

Other films will be added to the Library as a result of Chrysler Corporation's continuing sponsorship of major sporting events.

The films may be booked by contacting: Chrysler Film Sports Library, Modern Talking Picture Service, 2323 New Hyde Park Road, New Hyde Park, L. I., New York 11040.

Reporter Relaxes In Sauna

by Chuck Huhta

Sitting in the waiting room at the sauna last week a man whom I'd never seen before began interrogating me, presumably because he'd never seen me before either.

When I mentioned the Advertiser-Democrat he said "You work for the paper, eh? Why don't you write an article about the sauna?"

"Well, I've thought of it." I replied, "but I always assumed that people around these parts already knew about saunas."

The owner of the place hearing this piped up, "No, no! That's not true! Most people don't know what a sauna bath is. They think it's a communal bath like the Japanese have or a Turkish bath, but you'd be surprised how many people really have no idea of what saunas are."

Aha! A golden opportunity in American journalism looms overhead, I thought. Syndicated columnist Inez Robb had written up her only experience with saunas a few years back, but her impressions would turn off even the heartiest Finn.

I recall my father's burning a slow burn as he read Miss Robb's description of her first and last sauna bath in which she claimed to have been naked like a lobster, suffering a lot of pain and somehow managing to escape the true pleasure that a good sauna bath can give.

It's time to shed the true light about saunas.

Part I

In the first place, a sauna bath is as private as you like it.

The typical commercial sauna has from four to eight individual "hot rooms" which may be occupied comfortably by one to five people at a time. Adjoining each hot room are two dressing rooms, two per room so that after one party has finished their bath and is dressing, another party from the other dressing room may use the hot room thus keeping the hot room occupied more of the time. When you're done in the hot room you yell something appropriate to the cashier like "Number four's ready!!" so he can stoke up the wood sauna stove and move a new party in while you dress, undisturbed.

It's as simple as that. If you're shy, come along; if not, bring a friend.

Part II

The object of the sauna is to get cleansed inside and out, become thoroughly relaxed, sweat out poisons stored in the body, lose weight, and gain vast amounts of peace of mind. All this can be accomplished in an hour's time for a nominal fee at a public sauna or for free if you have an obliging friend who has his own private sauna.

Part III

Practices during the sauna bath vary according to the individual, but certain methods are standard.

To begin, after undressing, you enter the hot room completely naked. Usually, any garment or accessory worn in the heat, even jewelry, will be irritating.

Once in the hot room you first draw yourself a tub of lukewarm water. There are several tubs, a cold water faucet, and hose, a barrel of very hot water next to the sauna stove and a small pot to serve as a ladle. You use the tub of water you've mixed and the ladle to drench yourself occasionally and to cool down if you get too hot too fast.

There are benches to sit or lie on, but if you don't squirt some cool water on them when you first get in you're liable to get too warm a reception.

Once settled on a bench with a tub of lukewarm water handy, you can begin the sauna—take the ladle and toss some water from your tub onto the hot rocks on the stove (a bit at time or you'll simmer yourself to displeasure). Do this occasionally, wet yourself down occasionally, wash up and shower in the cold shower occasionally (watch your heart!), even beat yourself with cedar switches.

The cedar switches are used to increase circulation, further induce sweating, and will pleasantly scent the hot room if you steam them on the rocks.

Public saunas will provide their customers with towels, washcloth and soap.

Conclusion

Undoubtedly each sauna bath enthusiast has his own special technique for getting relaxed and clean. You will learn by discovery. If at first you feel uncomfortable in the sauna, wait until you're all done and dressed before passing judgment. The relaxing effect of the sauna doesn't really strike you until you get out.

If you're set to take a sauna bath now there are many public saunas in the western Maine area. At least one sauna in the area offers a special attraction—a pool to dive into to cool you off after your bath (you must wear a suit, but they rent them if you forget yours.)

Have a good Bath!

Patio Serves Outdoor Life

A patio adds a chair, party room, living room or room to a home, simply by building a deck of rugged, free western wood alongside.

Economical outdoor fits of wood doesn't crack, cool without reflecting heat, dries quickly after rain or up with garden hose.

Patios, partially covered sunshade or protected wind by a handsome screen, can be designed to complement the complete range of house styles.
